St. John 10:27-30

Jesus the good shepherd leads us in the way of eternal life.

*"The sheep
that belong to me listen
to my voice;
I know them
and they follow me."*

Real pastors care for real people

Jesus was often drawn to use the imagery of shepherds and sheep. Today's gospel considers the relationship between Jesus the Good Shepherd and the sheep he cares for and protects. The imagery is old but the message is topical. It is relevant to us and to the vibrancy and viability of our church. Our relationship with Jesus is a deeply personal one, but it is a force in our life that we are invited to share with others.

In order to gain eternal life, we need to listen to Jesus our Shepherd, and follow him. We attune our minds to the sound of his voice and let him lead us in the path he has shown. Self-centredness can make deafen to the voice of Jesus. The easy option is to wander into rosier

Today's Psalm Psalm 99

*We are his people,
the sheep of his flock.*

On this Sunday each year the gospel is about Jesus as shepherd. It is designated Vocations Sunday and we pray the the church on earth will not lack shepherds who will dedicate their lives to God's service.

In the words of today's psalm we can detect some of the forms of service to which the Lord calls people. Some are called to proclaim the Lord's message to all the earth. Others give their lives to the ministry of care and thus serve the Lord with gladness.

It is a privilege calling to lead the people in worship, to come before him singing for joy.

The vocation to teach is a noble calling. Christian teachers remind people the Lord is God, he made us, we belong to him.

The Lord who called the apostles and sent them out continues to call people in our day, for he is faithful from age to age.

May we be the people who listen to his voice, who follow his call and offer our service in gladness.

As Catholics, we firmly believe that God has a plan for our lives! He calls some to marriage, some to the priesthood, and others to religious life or to live as generous single people. Fully living our own vocations—and teaching young people how to discern God's call—is a serious duty, but also a joyful one. During this week, please encourage the young people in your life—children, grandchildren, students, and friends—to be open if God calls them to priesthood or religious life.
